Dear Farnam,

We are pleased to invite you for a fellowship as a visiting scholar at the Max Planck Institute for Software Systems, a publicly funded institution, starting July 5, until September 22, 2018. You will be advised by me on a research project in the area of machine teaching.

Your monthly stipend amounts to Euro 975.00. The stipend is tax-free. The institute will also provide you with accommodation, possibly shared with another intern, at no cost to you. Health insurance is available to you at a monthly premium of Euro 33.10, if needed.

The institute will cover reasonable travel expenses between Tehran and Saarbruecken. Please check with us prior to making your travel reservation.

With this letter we confirm that the following criteria hold:
- we invite the candidate for a fellowship (not an internship)
- funding for the fellowship comes from the Max Planck Institute
- funding for the fellowship is provided by public funding

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any question that may arise.

Yours sincerely,

Adish Singla
Head, Machine Teaching Group
